18th Century Collection

For generations, the hallmark of gracious interiors has been classic furnishings in rich cherry – the favored wood of 18th century cabinet-makers. Through Madison Cherry II, Drexel Heritage has created an elegant 18th Century furniture collection inspired by antiques from this renowned era – more specifically, the Queen Anne period in England. Each piece of Madison Cherry II is finished by hand and involves many steps. The result is beautiful furniture with color variations that reflect the growth patterns of each cherry tree used in production. Design details include cabriole legs, spiral turnings and jewelry-like hardware. Each piece is an authentic treasure – one that is worthy of becoming a valued family heirloom.

However, through Madison Cherry II, Drexel Heritage has updated the collection to match today's contemporary living environments. The authentic finish is lightly distressed and the warm cherry veneers and select hardwoods are crafted with today's busy lifestyles in mind. Pieces in the collection are proportioned to work well in today's homes and to transition smoothly into contemporary living.

The 18th Century Collection is offered in 1, 2, and 3 bedroom size homes that are identified as Houses A, B and C respectively. When an 18th Century House B or C is purchased it includes a Louis Philippe style Guest Bedroom. Each house is available in five different color schemes.
